

February 20-21, 2014

Winter Storm

NWS/WFO Duluth, Minnesota

*Updated 3:00 pm
2/19/2014*

Main Impacts From Storm

- Widespread Accumulating Snow
  - Beginning Tonight Lasting Through Friday Morning
- Heaviest Snowfall
  - Eastern Minnesota and Northwest & North Central Wisconsin
- Blowing and Drifting Snow
  - Gusty NW Winds Developing Thursday Night & Friday
  - Whiteout Conditions Possible
- Winter Storm Warnings/Advisories
  - Thursday Morning through Friday Morning

Storm Overview

Blowing & Drifting Snow Late Thursday Night & Friday

Major Storm to impact the Northland Thursday & Friday

Greatest Threat for Heavy Snow across North Central Wisconsin & Tip of Arrowhead

Strong Winds Producing Blowing & Drifting Snow

Major Travel Impacts Likely across Wisconsin/Minnesota/ Michigan

Warnings and Advisories

Click on the map below for the latest forecast.

Last map update: Wed, Feb. 19, 2014 at 3:30:18 pm CST

[Read watches, warnings &
advisories](#)

Winter Storm Warning

Winter Weather Advisory

Blizzard Watch

Winter Storm Watch

[Hazardous Weather
Outlook](#)

Primary Messages

Timing:

Beginning: Late Wednesday night/Thursday morning
West and North

Heaviest Snowfall: Thursday Afternoon/Thursday Evening

Ending: From southwest to northeast early Friday morning (south & west) and Friday afternoon (east)

Timing

Winds Friday Around Noon – Sustained 15 -25 mph

Wind Gusts Friday Afternoon – Gusts Up to 35 mph

Primary Messages

Impacts:

Travel/Road Conditions will deteriorate rapidly late Thursday Morning into the Afternoon

Blowing and Drifting Snow Thursday Night & most of Friday will create very dangerous travel conditions

Secondary Roads in northern Wisconsin and the tip of the Arrowhead will likely become impassible

Very Windy Across northeast Minnesota...especially near Lake Superior - Northwest 20-30 mph with some gusts 35+ mph

Heavy Wet Snow likely to accumulate on trees/powerlines may result in some power outages (wind)